Has fun in the sun damaged your skin?

If you have cutaneous squamous cell carcinoma, which is a common form of skin cancer and is associated with sun exposure, we have a research study that may be of interest to you. Center for Clinical and Cosmetic Research is conducting a clinical trial for males and females ages 18 and older with certain types of skin cancer. We are looking for volunteers who have had no previous treatment on their current skin cancer lesions to participate in a research study evaluating an investigational treatment administered through a needle injection. Qualified participants will receive compensation for their time and travel.
